

December 16, 2020

Pastor Green's Daily Encouragement

Howdy Folks, we're here this morning at another Western Wednesday. I pray that you are well and safe on this mid-week morning. I woke up this morning to news about another friend who has contracted this horrible virus, and I am concerned for him, as I am for everyone. My greater concern this morning is this friend is older than most of the people I know who have tested positive. So please join me today in praying for everyone who has been diagnosed with covid-19, and for the safety of those who have remained well, so that they continue to stay covid free. It is a scary thing for many now, but know that your Creator God and Father is watching over you. He has sent His Son, His Spirit, and His angels to have charge over you. Rest easy in that knowledge. Please also pray that this vaccine makes it to people in time to keep them all safe and protected. We're beginning to see some light at the end of the tunnel, but that tunnel is a long one, so remain confident, but remain safe, in Jesus' Name and in His Love and Mercy. As this is in fact Western Wednesday, I felt that it is entirely appropriate to offer a song from one of the most successful bands in Country Music history, Alabama, and they are singing "Angels Among Us." Have a most blessed day; stay warm, stay connected, and stay safe.