Pastor Green's Daily Encouragement

Another week begins, and not just any week, but the busiest week of the year. You can plan for months for this time of year, but when it arrives, few of us are ready. In the middle of a pandemic, when everything seems so off balanced and helter-skelter, we can still take a moment to remember that Christmas is not about what we are or are not ready for.

Christmas is going to come because the Savior of the world has already appeared, and He is returning again. No matter what we do, or don't do, Jesus is here to lead and guide us to a more meaningful existence, now, and forever. Did I hear you say that you have too much wrapping to do yet? That's okay, the greatest gift, the best present of all was not wrapped in shiny paper with ribbons and bows, instead He came and was wrapped in swaddling cloths. He came once to save the world, He is coming again to make it new again. Who was He, what Child is this? Jesus Christ the Lord. Francesca Battistelli is singing our Christmas worship song today, "What Child is This?" Have a super Sunday. See you in church.
