Pastor Green's Daily Encouragement

Two hundred seventy seven. It's difficult to comprehend, but today's post is the 277th daily message that I've prepared since March 20th. And this was just supposed to be a one time post to speak of the coronavirus. I'll tell you a secret regarding these messages . . . God has given me something to write about for two hundred and seventy seven straight days. I never expected to make it through the first week. He has blessed me with something to share every morning. And He gave me the idea of sharing this number today. He also gave me the idea to share this other number, and that is two (2), as in there are only two days remaining until Christmas Eve. Then we get to celebrate the arrival of our King of Kings, that poor little Baby born in a stable in Bethlehem. I pray that you have a church home to celebrate in this year, and let me add, especially this year. If not you are more than welcome to celebrate with us at St. Paul Lutheran on Old Falls Blvd. in North Tonawanda. If you would like to attend one of our five Christmas Eve services, then you'll need to call and make a reservation this year due to covid restrictions. We will be celebrating together on Christmas Eve at 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10 PM. We also have a Christmas Day service @ 10:00 AM. We're here for you, just please call our church office at 692-3255 and check for availability. Cindy selected our song today to further prepare us for the Birthday we commemorate this week, and it's a good one from Point of Grace called "Not That Far From Bethlehem." God's peace to you this day.
