

November 15, 2020

Pastor Green's Daily Encouragement

Shh! Keep it down, some people are still sleeping. Actually most people are still sleeping, but don't let them sleep too long, we don't want them to be late to church today, because it's Sunday, and church is the best place to be on Sunday morning. Get there while you still can because I fear that in the next week or so we'll be seeing more covid restrictions that will limit our ability to worship. Get there today, just in case I'm correct in my concerns. We are not going to stop preaching the Good news of the salvation offered to us through the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. We will keep going no matter what, even if that means that it will be on-line only, or back to the parking lot. We don't wish to settle for that though, it is important for us to be together in worship under one roof, a new one at that. It is important that we worship and commune together as brothers and sisters. Pray that our right to gather in worship is not infringed upon by heathens in government. Whatever this next week brings, know that Jesus loves you, and He is not the cause of this virus, don't cast the blame on Him. Our Sunday hymn is "The Lamb of God" as written and sung by Twila Paris. Have a most blessed day, in the name of the Lord.