Pastor Green's Daily Encouragement

A most blessed Thanksgiving to you and yours today. I am thankful for all of you and for the opportunity to greet you every day. Even as we struggle with the fallout from this lengthy pandemic, we still have much to be thankful for. We have life, and we have it together. We may need to remain distanced for a while yet, but that doesn't include God, we don't have to be distanced from Him. He is as close as you allow Him to be, so don't push Him away. Everything good in your life today is a gift from Him, thank Him today for those gifts, including the greatest gift that He has ever given to the world, His Son, our Savior Jesus. Every day is a day of Thanksgiving when you are a child of God, give Him your thanks and praise this day . . . and every day. Our song for this Thanksgiving is from Contemporary Christian recording artist Matthew West. He has recorded several great songs that I have included in my daily posts, but I'm not quite sure how to classify today's song. Let's just thank God for giving us a sense of humor. The name of this song is "Gobble, Gobble." Smile this morning.
