

January 13, 2021

Pastor Green's Daily Encouragement

We have all woken to a new Western Wednesday, well, not all of us, some of us are still in bed, probably where I'm going to go again soon. The worst thing about being in quarantine is also the best thing about being in quarantine, as long as you have no where to go, then get some much needed sleep. I will be venturing out today for a covid test. I'm really sick of them too. I had one Saturday and I tested negative, then Cindy's was positive on Sunday, and on Monday, I started to get the symptoms. You never know how this virus is going to affect anyone, and I am praying that my case will be easy. That was what many of you prayed yesterday for me, that my symptoms would not be severe. So thank you all for you prayers and well wishes yesterday. God only knows how this is going to play out for me, but I'm certain that your many prayers will be helpful. Please keep sending them, as they never fall on deaf ears. Our God in Heaven hears all of our prayers, and He will answer them in his time and in His way. So place your trust in Him. No matter where this heads, God will be leading me through His Son and our Savior Jesus. My hope is in Him, all days and in all ways. Our Western Wednesday song is by Toby Keith, and it's called "Shoulda Been a Cowboy." Have a blessed day in the name of the Lord, Amen.