Good morning everyone, and if you're reading this then I know that you survived St. Patrick's Day. I would guess that some of you may be feeling the effects of your celebrating this morning, but I pray that it is short lived. We should also celebrate this day, as it is one more day that God has given us because of His love and mercy. And we wake up every day in that love and in that mercy which is new to us daily. Yes, our blessings begin long before we wake up, and they continue all day long. God is calling out to us, telling us that He is here with us and He will never leave us nor forsake us. Keep going to Him in prayer, asking for what you need, and then go back to thank Him for all that you get, which is frequently much more than you need. His gifts are ours, and that includes the greatest gift that we receive from Him, which is also the greatest gift that the world has ever seen . . . His Son, our Savior Jesus. In His precious, Holy name I pray for all of you today, that through Him, blessings will flow to you today, be ready for them. I'm starting right now, be lifted up in the power of God today. Our Thursday song is called "Your Love is Mine" by I Am They. Enjoy!
