Pastor Green

Welcome to Monday, even though my mind is still on how beautiful Sunday was. It looks like today will be similar with some sun and temperatures in the 60's again. Bring it on, we can use that and more. Things change in good weather, people's attitudes improve, they seem friendlier and happier. The trees are changing already as well. The buds are starting to appear, and if the weather report for this week shapes up like we hope, there will be leaves on the trees in a few days. This is great news for us, especially for those of us who haven't enjoyed the winter. Count me among that group. What a blessing to know that after every winter, spring arrives with new growth and new life. It's a wonderful promise from God, and please remember that when you see the flowers popping up and the leaves appearing on the trees. After the death of winter, life returns. Life works just like that for believers in the Son of God, Jesus. After an Earthly death, life returns, and it never leaves us, it is eternal and everlasting. That is also a promise from God. We are so very blessed to have the promises of God, and throughout human history, His promises have always come to us just as He said they would. I expect that it will continue until we are all safely in His Heavenly Kingdom. I pray that you have a marvelous Monday in His name, and secure in His promises. Our song this morning is "You Promised" by Corey Voss. Listen well.
