It's a beautiful day in the neighborhood. Well, beautiful may not be the best way to describe the next couple of weather days, but it seems as though it will be mostly seasonal. Not sure if that's good or bad. That's pretty typical of life at all stages, we learn to accept the good along with the not so good. It's a wonderful day for some of us, while others might be struggling a little more. If today is a day of struggle for you, then I pray that our Father in Heaven would raise you up today to conquer whatever it is that is beating you down. Jesus already won the battle between good and evil when He died on the Cross then rose from the dead. He did that for you and me, so we know that He knows how to conquer evil, let Him do that for you today. Don't allow your day to be dictated by the schemes of Satan, ask Jesus to take care of things and He will. In all things, go about it with the Messiah at your side, because winning this game is too important to go it alone. Our song for this Thursday is a powerful Rend Collective offering called "Nailed to the Cross."
