Here we are, another western Wednesday and it's a great day to be alive. God has been most caring and loving with us and by giving us all another new day He is showing us His goodness. Will every minute of our day be super, no, probably not, but we were never promised perfectly smooth sailing through life. We were however promised eternal life, and that will be perfect. If you're awake and reading this then you have been blessed with an education, an electronic medium to read it, and a home to read it from. We are certainly blessed by God. If you have enough to eat today, then you are being blessed again. Don't let another moment go by without thanking your Creator and His Son our Savior for providing all that we need to live, and to live not only today, but to live for all eternity in Their Heavenly realm. Yes, life is good, and it is made better when we stop to look at all that He has done for us. I'm praying that we all enter this new day with an attitude of gratitude, and be thankful that we are forgiven, and we are made new in His power and mercy. Our song for this Western Wednesday is "Stand By Your Man" by Tammy Wynette. This may no longer be politically correct, but it was crazy popular when it was recorded. Good music remains good music.
