Are you aware that today is Friday the 13th? There are some who will be concerned about everything they face today, as though a date on a calendar could change our lives in any way. I don't know where this fear of the 13th came from, but I don't see things the same way. Just think, if you order a dozen donuts and get home to find 13 in the box, is that a bad thing? Not in my world it isn't. If you were expecting to receive a discount of 10 percent, and you receive 13 percent instead, that is a good thing too. It's kinda crazy how superstitions develop, especially among educated people. This is just one more reason that we are called to trust in God and not in the silliness of this world. We should never fear superstition because God created all things and He has dominion and control over everything. Clearly we have nothing to fear when He is on our side. The key thing here is that we turn to Him with our fears and our concerns. Place your burdens and your cares in the hand of the King of Creation, He will deliver you from everything that weighs you down. That's why we call Jesus our Savior, because He has already delivered us from the evil that would attempt to keep us from eternal life in the Father's Kingdom. Nobody can do what Jesus does, has done, and continues to do . . . all for you and me. Thank you Savior for living and dying for us. Our song for this Friday is "I Need to Be Still" by BJ Thomas. Be still and know that He is God. Have a most wonderful day.
