It has finally arrived, and I am so thankful that it is here. No, I'm not referring to around the clock Christmas music on the radio, I speak of Election Day. After today, no more advertisements, no more junk mail, unsolicited robo phone calls, no one stopping by at the most inconvenient times to talk about their candidate or their candidacy, and no more yard signs. It all ends today, and I for one am grateful for this. Yes, I understand that this is necessary to run a political campaign, but it doesn't mean that we have to like it. It's times like these that I miss the Tonawanda News even more than usual. They had formats for giving their readers information concerning the area candidates, all gone now. If I think real hard about it, I suppose that I long for the truth to come out. An unbiased look at things should give us that truth, but not always, there is still a human slant to reporting. This is why the Word of God is so very important in our lives, it only tells us the truth. Even when we don't wish to hear the truth, it is accurate, every single time. Sometimes the truth hurts, but the truth shall set us free, and freedom in the Lord is a great gift that Jesus won for us on the Cross. So our Earthly freedoms give us the right to cast our ballots today, go and do that. Exercise your right to vote, then pray that whoever wins would live and govern in a God pleasing manner. If they don't reflect the Word and Will of God, then look for another candidate, we have had enough leaders who do not follow the Lord, and nothing good can come to this nation if we keep following that path. When you vote today, give your support to a member of your family, God's family. Our song for this Tuesday is called "Is He Worthy" and it is performed by Chris Tomlin. Go vote.
