It's always a bitter Monday after a horrible Bills loss, especially when they were clearly out-coached. It hurts even more knowing that the Bills could have hired Frank Reich as their coach, and they missed that golden opportunity. Oh well, it's only a football game, not the end of the world. The sun will still come out today, and the Son of God will still shine in our lives too. We have those promises of God. In fact, He gave His one and only Son that whoever believes in Him will not perish but will have everlasting life. What a wonderful promise to all His creation, including you and me. We have been blessed beyond all measure, and the blessings flow daily, they are never ending. His love for us is never ending nor does it ever lessen. What a marvelous way to start our Monday, with the realization that Christ is with us, and He leads and guides us throughout our day. Thank You Jesus. Our song to kick off this work week is "Reckless Love" by Cory Asbury. Have a magnificent Monday in the name that is above all names, Jesus Christ the Lord.
